

1.2 Announcement

18TH CARPATHIAN BASIN CONFERENCE FOR ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE

17–19 May 2023
Szeged, Hungary

IN MEMORIAM: Shortly after the first announcement letter of the conference, the main organiser of this year's meeting, Prof. Dr. Andrea Farsang passed away. The organizing committee decided to dedicate the conference and one of its sessions to her memory. The organisation of the conference will continue despite this tragic event, but both the deadlines for registration and the conference date should have been postponed in order to ensure that the event can be held to the traditional high standards.

THE AIMS OF THE CONFERENCE are to present the latest results of environmental research in the Carpathian Basin and to discuss theoretical and practical problems. The conference also provides opportunity for initiating cooperation in international research activities, learning and experience for students in communication on international level in their field of research, and raising awareness in environmental problems, education and public understanding of research results.

THE MAIN TOPICS OF THE CONFERENCE: environmental geography, environmental geology, environmental informatics, environmental physics, environmental chemistry, ecology, built environment and territorial planning, waste management, renewable energy, environmental economics, agriculture and environment, nature protection, technology and environmental science, international and EU environmental politics, environmental education, Environmental Science and Studies in English.

THE LANGUAGES OF THE CONFERENCE: Hungarian and English

ORGANIZERS: UNIVERSITY OF SZEGED, FACULTY OF SCIENCE AND INFORMATICS, DEPARTMENT OF GEOINFORMATICS, PHYSICAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL GEOGRAPHY – THE CONFERENCE VENUE, HUNGARIAN UNIVERSITY OF SAPIENTIA, FACULTY OF SCIENCES AND ARTS, ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT
